

The JET! Trilogy

Eskhatos

The last book in the trilogy starts with two ne'er-do-well scavengers Smiffi and Donut, who are part of the Intergalax team that scour the universe and time for valuable artefacts. On returning their finds to the company Intergalax then sell them on for vast profits, but earnings from these "finds" can sometimes make the finder wealthy overnight, and allow them to literally retire on one commission! Deliberately paring Smiffi with Donut, their leader Haak finds his arrangement highly amusing, but Smiffi is not amused! Although he didn't dislike the little guy, Smiffi found Donut hard work, but would see no harm come to him. Knowing it had been cleaned out years earlier Haak gave them Sector seventeen as a joke, but the joke back fires when they discover the Diamond Dart. Initially Smiffi is content to return to base and claim his reward, but after finding a letter in Sirk's dead hand he realises he has to return him to his own planet. Having lived on Urf for a while Intergalax finally track down Smiffi and Donut, and in a clash with Laxxus, one of his bitter enemies, Smiffi narrowly escapes death, but thanks to Sirk he emerges triumphant! However, you will have to read Eskhatos to find out how.

Phil Phoenix.

Our cars we drive to 200,000 miles,
but how far have we driven the Earth?

Eskhatos

by

Phil Phoenix

ESKHATOS

By

PHIL PHOENIX